

Meeting with Sida held within the DELEF Project

24.03.2026 11:08

On March 23, 2026, the annual meeting with representatives of Sida was held at the premises of the Federal Administration for Geodetic and Real Property Affairs in Sarajevo, within the DELEF project implementation.

The meeting was attended by Birgitta Jansson, Head of Development Cooperation, and Nedim Bukvić, Programme Officer, representing Sida / the Embassy of Sweden in Bosnia and Herzegovina. On behalf of the Federal Administration was Denis Tabučić, Assistant Director, while Jasenko Nedinić, Assistant Director, attended on behalf of the Republic Administration for Geodetic and Real Property Affairs of Republic of Srpska. The delegation of Lantmäteriet, the Swedish mapping, cadastre, and land registration authority, included Jenny Svennewall, DELEF Project Manager, and Dennis Lindén, Lantmäteriet representative.

During the meeting, the results achieved in 2025 were reviewed, with particular emphasis on activities implemented through cooperation between partner institutions, as well as on the project's contribution to strengthening capacities in the field of land administration and geospatial data. The participants also discussed priorities and plans for 2026, including the need for careful planning of future activities due to a possible reduction in available financial resources.

The importance of maintaining the continuity of project results, further strengthening institutional cooperation, and directing available resources toward activities of greatest importance for improving land administration in Bosnia and Herzegovina was emphasized. The meeting was held in a constructive atmosphere, with all partners reaffirming their commitment to continued cooperation and further implementation of project activities.
